Join our new service for children with complex needs We're looking for compassionate, committed individuals to join the team at Cardinham Barns - a new residential and outreach service for children in Cornwall with disabilities and their families during times of crisis. By keeping children close to their schools, friends and families, we can help create stability while working toward long-term solutions - whether returning home or transitioning to a new placement. If you're passionate about making a difference, come along to our open morning on9 September at 11am for coffee, cake, and a chance to meet the team and learn about the roles available. Please let us know if you'll be attending - we'd love to welcome you! Email us at cardinham.barns@cornwall.gov.uk or call 07751 748623. Watch the video tour

A38 Glynn Valley resurfacing works National Highways are resurfacing the A38 in Glynn Valley from 8 September to 3 October to improve road quality and safety for drivers. The overnight closures will be from 8.30pm to 6am to minimise disruption. The road will be open as normal during the day and at weekends. Residents will still be able to access their homes throughout the works. They'll need to show the letter they were sent in the post to a National Highways gateman.
